

I believe that allowing Hollywood and associated parties to have the last word in this matter is absurd. The public pays a premium for much of the entertainment and information through this medium... who are they to determine what should be copied in my own home for my own use? Remember, most of us are law-abiding and will not earn a penny more at the establishment's expense. Thank you.